Nouveau Monde Summer School

AUGUST 15TH TO AUGUST 18TH, 2018
AT CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY IN MONTRÉAL

THE SCHOOL OF CITIZEN PARTICIPATION

The Summer School of the Institut du Nouveau Monde (INM) is a four-day event which allows youth to develop their civic competencies by experimenting various forms of citizen participation. It's also an event designed to gather many important actors of society. You'll meet other motivated participants, public figures, artists, journalists, politicians and researchers with whom you can share ideas. It's a dynamic and fun event made for the youth!

CHANGING THE WORLD FOR THE 15TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SUMMER SCHOOL

The INM has a fantastic vision for its 15th anniversary, and seeks the attention of the two million youth of Quebec aged between 15 and 35 to change the world!

Of course, changing the world requires time and effort, here or elsewhere. Systemic racism, a climate change crisis, a reconciliation process, a disorganized health system... There are many different issues that call for innovation. This is a great opportunity for youth to tackle these challenges. The younger generation remains a strong force of social change. It's by constructing continuous citizen participation that a shift can come to light.

The INM's Summer School is an opportunity for youth aged between 15 to 35 to learn, debate, reflect on issues, and subsequently propose solutions and projects. Every participant will have an exceptional occasion to meet and discuss with other inspiring citizens, and flourish their network. Moreover, they'll have the ability to engage and to voice their ideas!

It's by witnessing this engagement towards our society and community, that the INM reaches out to the two million youth of Quebec to change the world! We dedicate this 15th anniversary to these inspirational youth!
